Davis Would Be A Second Wilson

Will Try to Emulate Wilson's Record, He Tells Western Farmers—To Spend Two Weeks in Corn and Wheat Belts—Will Visit Bryan.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Sept. 2.—Flying the banner of Wilsonian ideals, John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, was intruded here today in a determined drive for political control of the agricultural west. The nominee's first act on his invasion of the west was to elevate the standard of Woodrow Wilson.

"If I am elected, I will do my best to emulate the great record of Woodrow Wilson," Davis declared.

It was with this tribute to Wilson that Davis began his drive for votes among the farmers and business men of the wheat and corn belts. He planned to keynote it throughout the tour.

The Democratic nominee reached Chicago this morning from Wheeling, W. Va., where he delivered a Labor Day address. The speech there definitely ranked him as a liberal in labor politics. In it he heartily endorsed the anti-child labor amendment, voluntary wage agreements and the establishment of hours and conditions of labor by contract instead of by law. He also condemned the Esch-Cummings law, the railroad labor board and the use of injunctions in strikes, all policies urged by labor leaders.

Davis planned to remain in the vicinity of Chicago until Friday evening when he will face the west for a two-weeks tour of the corn and wheat belts. Only preliminary arrangements have been completed for the trip.

Announcement was made, however, that Davis would leave Chicago Friday evening to fill two engagements next Saturday in Omaha, Neb. The nominee will be the guest of honor at a noon luncheon in the Fontenelle Hotel in Omaha and will deliver a prepared speech in the auditorium there at 8 o'clock that night.

Davis will then swing into Lincoln, Neb., to spend Sunday, September 7, at the home of Charles W. Bryan, Democratic vice-presidential candidate. The next morning he will leave for Denver. Under present plans Davis will remain three days in the vicinity of Denver, making a number of short visits to nearby points.

On the night of September 11 he will deliver his second prepared address of the trip at the Denver Auditorium. Davis will start home on September 12, routing his special train through Kansas and Missouri. He will participate in opening the Democratic Campaign in Missouri with a dozen invitations before him. This part of his itinerary was not completed. It was possible, however, that engagements would be made in Kansas City, St. Louis and Springfield. It was also indicated the Democratic nominee might spend the last week of September in campaigning through Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky, before returning to the Atlantic seaboard.

Wheeler Wanted Salary of $18

Went West When He Didn't Get It—Might Have Remained Shoe Factory Stenographer—Now Runs With LaFollette.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Hudson, Mass., Sept. 2.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Independent candidate for vice-president on the ticket with Senator Robert M. LaFollette, came back today to his little home town amidst Massachusetts rolling hills for a hurried one hour's visit with boyhood friends and his brothers, Ernest and Oscar, and sisters, Maud Wheeler Mitchell and Mrs. Emma A. Russell Wheeler.

The Senator motored over from Boston, where he delivered his first campaign address yesterday, for just a few minutes before dashing on to Bedford and Portland, Maine, where he will speak tonight, to chat over old times. Wheeler, 21 years ago, was a shoe factory stenographer here and everyone told him how foolish he was to go West to Montana.

In chatting with his sister this morning he recalled those days with a laugh and admitted he might have stayed if they raised his pay to $18 a week.

In his speeches tonight Senator Wheeler said he would amplify his attacks on the Republican and Democratic parties.

Experts from the New York office of the Motor Vehicle Bureau, men who have had long experience in distributing operators' licenses, and who know how to answer all the questions the motoring public is asking about the operation of the new law, will be attached to the staff of the fair ground branch for the week, to give any information that may be desired.

Government Acts In Firpo Case

Department of Labor Orders Fight to Appear for Examination—Brooklyn Reformer Predicts Will-Firpo Fight Will Be Called Off.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 2.—Action by immigration authorities at New York looking to the possible deportation of Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine prize fighter, was ordered today by the Department of Labor.

Commissioner of Immigration Curran at Ellis Island was instructed by Acting Secretary of Labor White to order Firpo before him for an additional examination on the basis of new evidence submitted to the Labor Department by Canon William Chase of New York.

Canon Chase placed his evidence with Secretary White this morning and demanded immediate action and more delays. White was said to have been impressed by the new evidence, the nature of which was not revealed and at once ordered Curran to take the steps necessary to proceed against the Argentine heavyweight, who is in the United States to fight Harry Wills, negro prize fighter on September 11.

Labor Department officials here were not inclined to discuss the Firpo case in detail but it was understood that Commissioner Curran would issue a warrant for Firpo's arrest as the first step in the new proceedings.

Canon Chase predicted that the Firpo-Wills fight would be called off and that Firpo would be ordered deported within the next few days. Firpo's troubles started when he entered the United States in July. On the same ship which brought him from Buenos Aires was Miss Bianca Lourdes, a pretty South American girl. Canon Chase and others who are seeking Firpo's deportation, charge that the relations of Miss Lourdes and Firpo were such that the government has a right to deport the prize fighter. The first specific charge made against Firpo was that he perjured himself in explaining to the immigration authorities at Ellis Island when he arrived the reasons for Miss Lourdes' presence on the ship. The perjury charge is now pending against him in New York.

Fighting Breaks Out in China

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Shanghai, Sept. 2.—Fighting between rival Chinese factions was reported to have broken out at Nanking today. It is unconfirmed, but there are known to be heavy troops concentrations in that region.

According to American Consular reports ten miles of telegraph lines have been torn down in vicinity of Nanking.

General Lu Yung Hsiang's forces have cut the Shanghai-Nanking railroad fifteen miles from Shanghai, stopping all rail communication from Shanghai and Peking. Marshal Chi Hsieh Yuan's outposts are pushing farther down the railway and nearing Shanghai, but there has been no actual fighting as yet.

General Lu, through his subordinate, General Ho Feng Lin, who is in command at Shanghai, has had troops in the railroad zone near Quinsan for some time so that cutting the railway was easy.

With the breaking of the railway communications northward, Shanghai, China's greatest city and chief port, has communication only by boat to Tientsin in the north.

Patriotic Order State Convention

Two Days' State Convention Opened With Public Exercises—Mayor Block Welcomes Delegates—Response by State President Brooks.

The 27th annual state convention of the Patriotic Order Sons of America opened in Pythian Hall, corner of Broadway and Thomas street, this morning with public exercises. The delegates were welcomed to Kingston by Mayor Morris Block, and State President of the order J. E. Brooks responded. At the conclusion of the public opening, the delegates went into their first business session. Nomination of officers were in order in the afternoon and election of officers will take place tomorrow.

At the opening session Jasper Kelder presided. The program was opened with the singing of America. The presentation of a Bible to the State Camp followed with invocation by the Rev. W. F. Stowe. Kendall violin solo and the welcoming address by Mayor Block followed.

In welcoming the delegates to the city Mayor Block said:

"Mr. Chairman, Officers and Members of the Patriotic Sons of America:

It is indeed a pleasure to welcome your 27th annual convention to our city. No doubt you consented to make this your meeting place on account of the loyalty of our local members, the beauty of our surroundings and the well established friendly interest of our citizens in all kinds. We bid you welcome and hope that your deliberations in this city will be to the best interest of not only your order but of our entire people. My understanding is that your membership is not as large as that of some other organizations but it is hardly necessary to remind you that not quantity but quality makes the membership of an order prominent. I must confess that I am not entirely familiar with all the aims and objects of your organization but I believe that you are the active support and encouragement of all of us. It is our duty to encourage love and respect for our country, to take an active interest in its affairs and to realize that we all owe a great measure of gratitude for the many blessings afforded us as citizens of the United States of America. It is fitting that our city should be selected as the place of your meetings because of our many relics of the Revolutionary War and of the prominent part Kingston played in that war. Kingston not only was prominent in this war but showed its 100 per cent patriotism in all succeeding wars.

I believe that your delegates will be more pleased with the reception accorded by our people and trust that you will take home with you many pleasant recollections of our city. I again on behalf of the City of Kingston welcome you and assure you that everyone connected with the city government will do all in their power to make your stay among us pleasant and enjoyable.

State President Brooks responded to the mayor with a brief history of the Patriotic Order Sons of America from the time of their organization over seventy-five years ago to the present time when the membership has grown to over 200,000. He briefly outlined the aims and objects of the order and spoke of the patriotic spirit of the men during the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and during the World War when a very large percentage of the members volunteered for service. He also spoke of the previous state camps which have been held in this city and of the favorable impression which the city left with the delegates.

The public opening was then brought to a close with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the assemblage.

At the conclusion of the program Mr. Kelder turned over the gavel to State President Brooks who called to order the first business session of the convention.

Monday evening a public reception was held at Pythian Hall for the state officers, their wives and delegates. Headquarters for the officials is at the Eagle Hotel on Main street.

Troops Withdraw From Herrin

Some Will Remain Until Inquests Are Completed—City Quiet as Men Resume Daily Occupations.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Herrin, Ill., Sept. 2.—Despite protests of the Williamson County Miners' Association that, left to itself, the bitter hatred between alleged Klan and anti-Klan forces here would immediately flare up again into further killings, the first contingents of State Militia ordered here following the slaying of six men Saturday, entered today. The movement of troops from the city will be gradual. Adjutant General Carlos E. Black announced, and will not be completed until after the inquests into the deaths of Saturday's victims tomorrow.

General Black ordered the withdrawal of troops last yesterday after an inspection tour through the country. He reported all quiet in spite of wild rumors of outbreaks.

It is expected that a detail of troops will be assigned today to the preliminary hearing of Dr. J. T. Black, head of the Herrin Hospital, and Claude Craig, his chauffeur, who were arrested on a general murder charge in connection with Saturday's outbreak. Large numbers of persons representing each faction in the Williamson county feud, are expected to attend the hearing, but neither the sheriff's forces nor General Black anticipate trouble. The charge have waived preliminary hearing and their cases will go directly to the grand jury which will be empaneled in about three weeks.

Today, as far as outward appearances showed, Herrin was no different from any other Illinois city. With daybreak men were hurrying along the streets to their day's work. Underneath it all, however, there was a current of tenseness.

Seven Die From Heat in New York

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 2.—Seven deaths and scores of heat prostrations had been counted this afternoon in the heat wave which has gripped New York for the past 36 hours. Two of the deaths were directly due to prostration and five were swimmers who found death in the waters they had sought to avoid the heat.

At one o'clock the thermometer registered 86 and was slowly mounting, with only thunderstorms predicted for late this afternoon conceded a chance to check the climb.

Relief was in sight but had not arrived at 11 o'clock when the thermometer registered 82, one degree less than the same hour yesterday. "The mercury will not reach yesterday's maximum of 92," the weather man said. "We don't know just when the thunderstorms will come but it will be cooler tonight and tomorrow."

All the beaches in the vicinity of Greater New York were greeted with long lines this morning waiting to get in bath houses. Thousands, who slept on the beaches last night, were in the water before the bath houses opened.

It was estimated five thousand slept on the sand at Coney Island and slightly smaller numbers at other beaches.

Chicago Bandits Kill Entertainer

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Sept. 2.—An entertainer, playing his ukelele, unmindful of the robbery, was killed, another man was wounded and a score of patrons, including several women, were robbed today when six bandits help up a recently opened North Side road house, less than an hour after yeggers had bound two employees in the Quigley Dairy Company, cracked a safe containing $7,000 and escaped.

The roadhouse bandits escaped after a battle in which revolvers and sawed-off shot guns flared. Before fleeing, they severely beat a bartender who fired at them, seemingly in vain, until his revolver was emptied. Their victim was Albert Smith, 30.

The dairy company robbery occurred while squads of police were scouring the city for a trace of thieves who, some time between closing time Saturday and Sunday evening, had looted Uncle Max's Loan Bank in the Loop, of $100,000 worth of valuables.

Prince Missing But Not Lost

Came Home at 6 A. M., But Nobody Was Alarmed—Telephoned From Farm House Asking Directions—Catching Up With Correspondence and Lost Sleep.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Spossett, N. Y., Sept. 2.—The Prince of Wales provided newspaper reporters with a mystery today when he returned to the James A. Burden estate here at 6 o'clock this morning. The reporters had no record of where the Prince spent the night, or how, and early today there was no one who could tell them.

The Prince was to have attended a dinner last evening at the home of Devereaux Milburn, but he was not present. He left in time for the dinner in an automobile, accompanied by a chauffeur and a Scotland Yard detective.

Nothing further was heard of the Prince until shortly before 6 o'clock this morning when he telephoned from a farm house near here asking directions to reach the Burden home. No special plans had been arranged for the Prince today. It was expected he would spend a quiet morning. He had had an especially trying day yesterday, having played polo and in the afternoon, having been jostled by the huge crowd at the races in Belmont Park. It was said he might engage in a scratch polo game at the Phlips estate in Westbury late this afternoon.

Captain A. L. Lascelles, the Prince's secretary, today professed ignorance as to Edward Albert's whereabouts last night and early this morning.

"Yes," he came in rather late but I am quite sure he was not lost," Lascelles said. "If he had been lost you may be sure I would have been advised of it by 10 o'clock."

It is customary in London also, Lascelles said, for the newspapers to decide the Prince is lost if he stays out after midnight.

Preparation of mail for home today, it was said, would keep the Prince occupied throughout the forenoon and until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

He might also use some of the time, it was admitted, to catch up on the sleep missed last night.

After 5 o'clock the tentative program called for polo practice at the W. R. Grace field, followed by dinner at the estate of Henry R. Winthrop.

The demonstration at Belmont Park yesterday when the Prince was almost mobbed by excited stable boys and society women who struggled for a glimpse of him, will have no effect on plans for his other public appearances in America, according to Inspector Carlson of Scotland Yard.

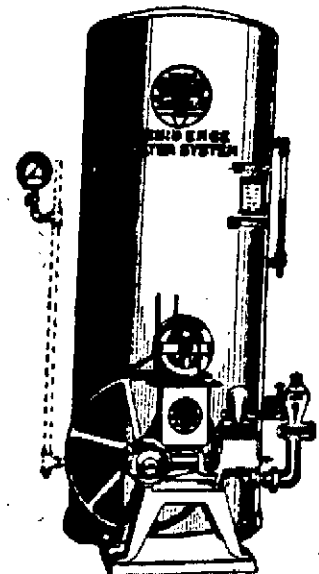

There are only two more possible occasions on which the Royal Visitor will have to brave curious American crowds. One is at the International polo matches later this month and the other is at the six motor yacht races, some time within the next two weeks. The Prince will meet the ordeals without extra guards, Inspector Carlson said.

Reckless Auto Driver Fined $50

Fred DeMott, chauffeur for Morris Suslow, a real estate broker of Amsterdam avenue, New York city, was fined $50 Monday afternoon for reckless automobile driving by Justice of the Peace David Widener at Shokan. The Suslow car, a Cadillac, dodging in and out behind other cars on the New York city boulevard near Shokan, about noon struck an Oakland sedan, knocking it against a tree and slightly injuring the occupants. The Suslow car did not stop. Word was sent by telephone to the sheriff's office and Deputy Sheriff Seth Jocelyn went to the viaduct on Washington avenue where he met the car when it reached Kingston. Getting into the Cadillac, which had its right hind mudguard badly damaged from its impact with the car struck at Shokan, he escorted Suslow, his family and the chauffeur to the court house. He placed the chauffeur and Suslow in charge of Deputy Sheriff Anderson V. Ellsworth who took them before Judge Widener, where the owner of the car damaged, after Suslow stated he would notify the company which insured his car to pay all damages, preferred the charge of reckless driving against DeMott, the chauffeur, who was fined $50 which was paid. It was stated at Shokan that the Suslow Cadillac struck another car, injuring a man who did not want to make a charge against the owner.

Beans at State Fair Exhibit

Experiment Station To Show How to Avoid Diseases—Cooking Qualities Also Exhibited.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Geneva, N. Y., Sept. 2.—What do you know about beans? The specialists at the experiment station here would like to discuss the subject with state fair visitors at the station exhibit at the state fair where they will have a display featuring several phases of bean growing. Time of planting to avoid many bean troubles breeding for new varieties of beans resistant to disease, the cooking qualities of different kinds of beans, these and other facts about beans will be dealt with in the station exhibit.

Bean growing in New York suffers from several troubles, says the station specialist working with the subject, and experiments conducted at the station for the past several years are beginning to throw light on how best to overcome them. The results of some of these experiments will be shown at the state fair.

Time of Planting.
Late planting of beans is the secret of success in many instances, it is pointed out. By this method much of the trouble due to weevil infestation and disease can be avoided, while a late planting date has other decided advantages over too early planting. Beans planted as late as June 20 at Geneva give excellent results, says the station bean specialist.

Much time has been spent in trying to develop new strains or varieties of beans resistant to disease, and now several promising kinds are beginning to appear. The development of a new variety is a slow process, however, for it requires several years' tests under different seasonal conditions before a new kind can be recommended for general trial. Encouraging progress is being made in this direction in the station experiments, it is said, and some of the most promising crosses will be shown at the state fair.

Beans dried widely in their cooking qualities, some of them undergoing decided changes in color and texture with the cooking process. Several of the more or less common varieties of beans will be displayed, both cooked and uncooked, in order to give an idea of the behavior of the different kinds in this respect.

It was the first time in many years that all had met together. Mrs. Avery was as spry as with the rest and glad to have them all with her. Prayer meeting at the Shokan Reformed Church is held every Thursday in the Sunday school room. All are invited to attend. During the absence of the pastor the meetings have been led by volunteer leaders. Last week Miss A. Ingalls gave a very interesting talk and held the interest of all.

The usual Wednesday evening dance will be held at Winchell's Hall this week. All are invited to attend and meet their friends. Music will be furnished by Zucca's Kingston orchestra.

The Misses Ingalls and mother will soon be leaving for their home in the city.

A reunion and social gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ruckert. A good time was had by all who attended.

Brick Industry More Stabilized

Greater New York Market Shows Only Serious Reaction—Slackening of New Construction Work There Causes Drop in Price.

The common brick industry of America has become stabilized to a degree that would have been considered impossible a few years ago. The monthly reports of the members of this association prove this beyond a question. At the time of the war officials of the War Industries Board were quoted as saying that the common brick business was perhaps the most disorganized and unstabilized business with which the board had contact. Few industries today give a better example of what real stabilization means to the individual units than does the common brick industry. In several important manufacturing centers there has been no price change, practically no change in cost of production, and continuous operation of plants except for seasonal interruptions during the past five years.

This stabilization is the result of cooperative promotion. The market for brick has been improved, permitting plants to look into the future and operate with confidence that their product would not be piled up in their yards. The demand has been sufficient to insure the manufacturer a reasonable profit under the invariable law of supply and demand, and while few plants have operated at full capacity, they have met the needs and are year after year increasing their output.

While the total expenditures for construction throughout the country show some decline over the corresponding months of 1923, this decline has not yet been seriously felt by the brick industry. The orders on the books at the beginning of August were only about seventeen per cent below those of July 1st, and this may be accounted for to some extent by midsummer conditions. August is not usually the month for starting new operations.

The brick moved from the yards during July was only six per cent below the brick moved in June. A majority of the 100 manufacturers reported are found listed in the column indicated fair or good outlook for the future. Some increase in the deliveries of brick during September and October is looked for. Stocks of burned brick on hand are ample to meet any normal demand during the next month.

The only serious reaction in the market is found in Greater New York where there is a decided slackening of new construction work. The price of brick wholesale in New York City dropped from $20 to $15 and some bargains sold as low as $13 a thousand. This practically eliminates foreign brick from consideration, as the preference always has been for the American made product at anything like an equal price. It also eliminates the manufacturer's profit.

MILTON.

Milton, Sept. 2.—The formal opening and dedication of the new library building last Wednesday evening was attended by the largest gathering in this village in several years. The following program was rendered: Music, Brook Villa Orchestra; hymn, America; prayer, the Rev. J. Leadbeater; hymn, Star Spangled Banner; Milton Melody Club, orchestra and audience; addresses, R. M. Round, president First National Bank of Milton, the Rev. H. F. Wilke and the Rev. J. Leadbeater; singing, Carry Me Back to Old Virginia, Melody Club, the Rev. H. F. Wilke and audience. The Rev. T. Tighe and Major Tuckerman who were to address the meeting were unable to be present. A block dance followed the dedication of the new building. The new building adds a great deal to the appearance of our village. The design is beautiful and reflects credit on the artistic judgment of the trustees.

Mrs. Nelson Purdy

received a letter by air from her brother, Earl Tansley of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruner and sister, Miss Florence, of New York spent the holiday at the home of Mrs. Alice Crowell.

Many thanks are due, Mrs. Irving Clarke for the beautiful solo, "Safe In the Arms of Jesus," which she sang at the service in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning. It was well suited for the subject of the pastor's sermon, "Partnership with God." There was a large attendance to hear the Rev. H. A. Northacker of Elmhurst, L. I., a former pastor of this church. Mrs. Clarke is always a welcome attendant at our church services and social gatherings and her vocal and violin solos are always charming.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Velle of Marlborough attended the service at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning.

Robert Cleland of Buffalo visited his aunt, Mrs. G. P. DuBois last week.

Mrs. Amelia Osten of New Smyrna, Florida, and Mrs. Frank Dorn of Watervliet are visiting at the home of their mother, Mrs. William Stenson.

William H. Donaldson and son, florists, have transplanted about 8,000 carnations in their greenhouses.

On account of the large attendance at the dedication of the new library building last Wednesday evening and the auto traffic it was necessary to have a state trooper to handle the traffic.

Mrs. Winfield Bailey and son, Thomas, are visiting her sister, Mrs. Ralph Greenlaw, at her home at Englewood, N. Y.

Daniel Carey of New York spent the week end and holiday at the home of his aunt, Mrs. M. Baty, on Sands avenue.

Political Dates For Rest of Year

Political Calendar Begins to Become Significant With Fall Primary Election on September 16—Other Dates.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Sept. 2. (Special).—The political calendar prepared by Secretary of State James A. Hamilton will begin to take on additional significance on September 16, which is the fall primary date. On August 28 Secretary Hamilton certified to the custodian of primary records of the designations filed in his office. This year candidates for congress and the state senate alone filed petitions.

Relative to the forthcoming fall primaries it is set forth in the political calendar prepared by Secretary Hamilton that the hours for voting in New York city will be from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m., while the hours for voting outside of New York city will be from 12 noon to 9 p. m.

The custodian of the primary records, after the primary, is required to certify to the secretary of state the names and addresses of electoral delegates and alternates to conventions.

September 21 is the last day for the custodian of primary records to certify other results of election required to be sent to the secretary of state.

The first day under the election law for holding a state or judicial convention is September 24. The last day for filing nominations is September 30, while October 2 is the last day for the filing of declarations.

October 7 is the final day for the filing of new nominations to fill the vacancies caused by declarations.

To nominate independently, signatures must be secured to the number of 12,000 for state-wide offices with at least 50 for each county. In this respect the counties of Fulton and Hamilton are considered as one county.

Other requirements for independent nominations are:

Five per cent of the total vote for governor in any political subdivision except that 3,000 may nominate a candidate in any political subdivision larger than a borough or county.

A candidate may be nominated by 1,500 for a borough or county office.

From September 30 to October 7 independent nominations may be filed with the secretary of state; October 10 is the last day to decline independent nominations and October 13 is the final date to fill vacancies of independent nominations.

The dates of personal registration in New York city are October 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 from 7 a. m. to 10:30 p. m.

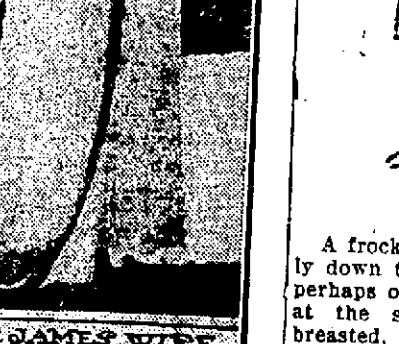

In cities and villages of 5,000 or more, New York city excepted, the dates for personal registration are October 10, 11, 17 and 18 from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Outside of cities and villages of 5,000 or more inhabitants the dates for non-personal registration are October 11 from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. and October 18 from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m.

On October 5 affidavits may be filed for the first time with respect to absentee voters' ballots, while October 18 is the last day for the filing of such affidavits.

The date of the general election is November 4 when the polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 6 p. m.

November 24 is set as the last day when statements as to campaign receipts and expenditures may be filed with the secretary of state.

Vote Against Bobbing Six-Foot Hair.

MRS. JAMES WIRE

Mrs. James Wire, of Kountze, Tex., has hair six feet long. She wanted to know if she should bob it and keep pace with the modern flapper. So a local newspaper canvassed its readers on the question, and by a vote of six to one it was decided that she should keep her long tresses.

Form of Baptism

Baptism in the Catholic church was originally by immersion. According to the Catholic Encyclopedia, immersion as a regular method of baptism prevailed until about the Twelfth century. In some places individual Catholic churches baptised by immersion until several hundred years later.

How Shall Forest Land Be Taxed

Bill Signed by President Coolidge Calls for Investigation—Massachusetts Tax Law Meets Approval of Experts.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Syracuse, Sept. 2.—Taxation of forest land is one of the most difficult problems in the whole forestry question, says the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University.

Conflicting interests, lack of knowledge on the part of forest land owners as to how their properties can be handled profitably, necessity for collecting taxes annually to defray expenses of the government and the long time required for a forest crop to mature and be converted into money, are a few of the obstacles that stand in the way and which must be overcome before a generally satisfactory forest land tax can be devised that will aid the owner of forest land and encourage forest management under scientific methods.

During the last dozen years ten states have enacted tax laws designed to promote forestry. These laws have been drawn on the principle of placing the tax on the timber when harvested. This seems to be working toward the right idea but none of these laws have been taken advantage of by a large number of owners. The Massachusetts law, which has received the approval of many foresters and tax experts is believed to be the best tax law based on the yield-tax principle that has yet appeared.

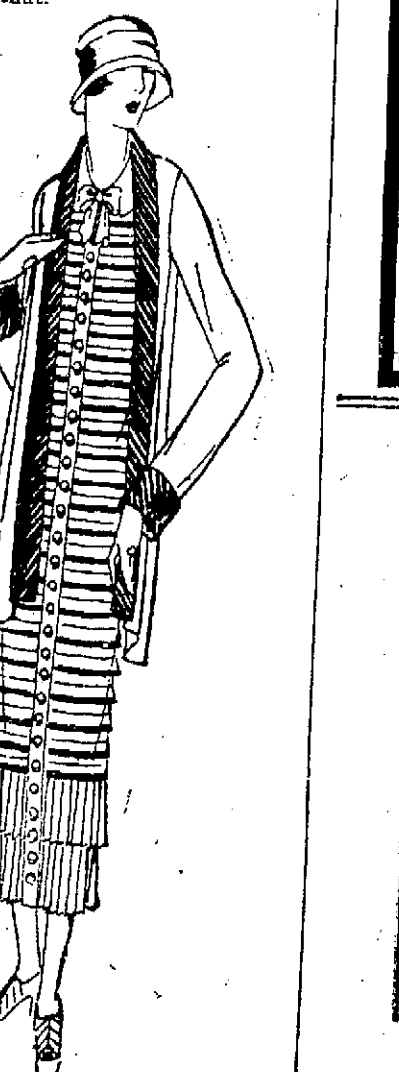

In addition to all the other difficulties in forest land taxation is our system of assessors and assessments. Before any tax law can be made generally acceptable some attention will have to be paid to adjustment of assessments to conform with the purpose and spirit of the principle on which the tax is levied. The Clark bill, signed by President Coolidge, calls for an investigation of this subject and appropriates money for carrying on the work. So the day may not be far off when a tax law will be written based on actual knowledge of conditions that will greatly stimulate the practice of forestry by the private owner.

FOR POLO AND OTHER SPORTS.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

Sports clothes for Indian summer days are as colorful as the woods which so often make their background. Effective tonal blendings are one of the salient features of such costumes and in many instances plaids are involved not only for coats and ensemble costumes, but for simple straightline dresses, while stripes, applied and actual, have their decorative use as the sketch attests.

Fabric trimmings, such as panels, aprons, pleated or plain, bias folds, pleated ruffles and such details add greatly to the interest of these frocks. Straightlines and sports are synonymous, but there is a variety galore for all that.

A frock or coat may open demurely down the front, primly buttoning perhaps or seeming to, or may open at the side or even be double-breasted, with two rows of buttons, or something which recalls the dignity of the Directorate. This brings to mind that some of the more ultra models have little shoulder capes, as well, but for the most part the straight unbelted coat ending a few inches above the skirt prevails, and that its lining is important is something to remember; bright linings—plaid, striped, or plain being much liked.

The complete sports wardrobe for fall can hardly fail to contain some brush wool and some novelty knitted suits or sweaters. Indeed wool has been cleverly manipulated to simulate fur, one extraordinary necklace having the form of a brown fox, being made of loops of brown wool. Kashas and such soft wools are sometimes trimmed with wool instead of fur, but sports furs are important and among the greatest of these are barunduki, leopard and wildcat.

Used Kellogg's Bran 2 months—constipation gone after suffering 3 years

Three years of suffering with constipation. What happiness was his when Kellogg's Bran, cooked and husked, restored his health. But read his letter.

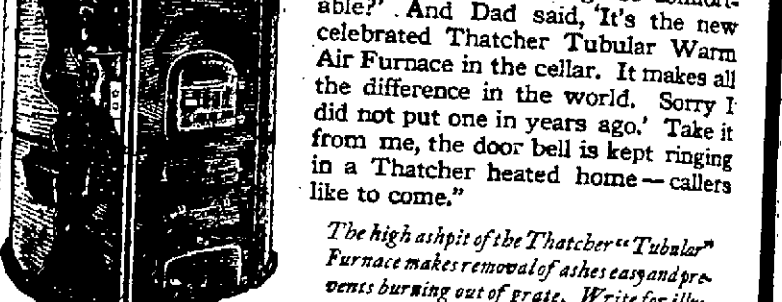

"Dear Sir:—This is what I think of your husked bran. I would not be without it for anything in the world. For three years I used all kinds of medicines for constipation, and only got temporary relief. I was advised by a doctor to use Kellogg's Bran, and since I began using it I don't have to take pills or anything else. I have used it two months, and my constipation has left me. I feel better now than I have, for three years." (The original of this letter is on file with the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran brings results because it is ALL bran. You can't fight constipation with halfway measures—with bran which are only part bran. It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective.

Because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran it sways, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts naturally—just as nature acts. It stimulates the intestine and makes it function regularly. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will refund your money.

Kellogg's Bran has a delicious nutlike flavor. Quite different from ordinary, unpalatable bran. You will like it as cereal, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Eat two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's Bran every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

I've just discovered the reason why I had more visitors last winter than ever before. One day Mrs. Jones said, 'My, this is a nice and cozy house! How do you keep things so comfortable?' And Dad said, 'It's the new celebrated Thatcher Tubular Warm Air Furnace in the cellar. It makes all the difference in the world. Sorry I did not put one in years ago.' Take it from me, the door bell is kept ringing in a Thatcher heated home—callers like to come.

The high spirit of the Thatcher "Tubular" Furnace makes removal of ashes easy and prevents burning out of grate. Write for illustrated booklet "Helpful Hints on Heating."

Jack Dempsey Views Beauties

Inspects Arrivals in Atlantic City Beauty Contest But Denies He Is Engaged to Anyone—83 Cities Send Beauties.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 2.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and his new nose, the result of a plastic surgeon's work, arrived here today to see the most beautiful girls from 83 cities all over the country, gathered for the national beauty tournament which opens this afternoon.

Dempsey, eagerly looking over each new arrival in the congress of beautiful women assembling for the pageant, denied that he was engaged to anyone, or had any such intentions.

"They'll marry me off yet without me knowing anything about it," Jack laughed.

Questioned concerning his rumored engagement to Miss Estelle Taylor, moving picture actress, with whom he left Los Angeles, Dempsey asserted she was merely an old friend and that when he stopped over in Salt Lake City to see his father and his new step-mother Miss Taylor came on to Wilmington to visit her mother, Mrs. Harry Boylan.

Dempsey, who is the guest of Mayor Edward L. Bader, said he would remain in Atlantic City for two weeks and intended seeing the Renault-Godfrey and Firpo-Wills fights. After that he will go into light training he said.

With the arrival of the beauties today it was announced they would be divided into five sections in the bathing revue on Friday and that the three winners in each section would be the finalists to be judged for "Miss America" on Saturday.

Thousands of visitors viewed the arriving contestants critically, comparing blondes and brunettes and long haired queens with bobbed headed flappers in an effort to predict which would be chosen as "Miss America."

Two Klansmen Fight Fatal Duel

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(INS) What was the business that brought Thomas H. Austin to Buffalo?

That is the big question that Buffalo police are now trying to answer in their groping around for a solution of the mystery that surrounds the revolver duel between two Klansmen, in which Austin and Edward C. Oberstein, a former Buffalo policeman, shot each other to death by the dim light of a street lamp.

Austin, it has been shown by an examination of papers found on his body, had been in Birmingham, state headquarters of the Klan. Also he carried an automobile license card issued in the District of Columbia, while according to people whose acquaintance he had made here, he was married in Youngstown, Ohio, a couple of years ago.

In an effort to solve the mystery, the police this morning turned the entire case over to the office of the district attorney, but that branch of the public service can make little progress.

Two other men who were shot while the duel was on are able to speak. They are George C. Bryant, who has been described as one of the Klan leaders here, and Carl Sturm. Bryant was seriously wounded when one of the bullets thought to have come accidentally from the revolver of Austin hit him in the groin. Sturm is not so seriously wounded, but is unable to be removed from his home, where he is under police guard. Bryant is in a hospital here. They will be questioned as soon as they are able to talk.

KINGSTON, N. Y., SEPT. 2, 1924.

Bishop Cheshire of North Carolina is against race suicide in practice as well as in theory. In the apartment house he is building in Raleigh families with children will have first choice and families without children will be charged more.

Even dogs are having their day. A year or more ago the governor of Maine half masted the State House flag in honor of his dead dog, and now—if the reporters have not touched up the tale—the governor of Pennsylvania has condemned a dog to the penitentiary for life as a murderer.

According to Charles A. Windle, "a widely known economist of Chicago," four years of prohibition have cost the people of the United States $10,016,000,000, a sum greater than the British war debt. These figures cover the indirect as well as the direct costs, and inevitably considerable guesswork enters into the estimates of the former, but no doubt the certain costs are staggering enough.

FISHERMEN GONE ASTRAY.

Prohibitionists from conviction naturally do not like to hear it said that their strongest backers are the bootleggers, but there is every reason why the last named should rejoice in a rock-ribbed Volstead law and strenuously oppose any modification of its provisions. For prohibition has furnished them an enormously profitable trade, which is doubtless all the more attractive because of the incidental excitement and risk. According to report the profits of rum-running have tempted upper as well as lower class Britishers to engage in it, one of the most boldly outspoken as well as successful being a well known baronet. On this side the Atlantic the profits of bootlegging are not only causing many varieties of crooks to change their "line" but seems to be drawing recruits even from the honest trades.

Recently the clerk of the Brooklyn County Court explained the marked decrease of burglaries in his city on the ground that "stick up" men have gone into bootlegging as both more profitable and less risky, the convicted bootlegger usually getting only about 30 days and the burglar being likely to get as much as 20 years. And now, in explanation of the high price and scarcity of the better varieties of fish in the urban markets of the North Atlantic states, a dealer is quoted as saying to a complaining housewife: "It is because all the fishermen have turned to bootlegging. We can't get much except halibut and cod, and that makes bluefish, sea bass and the like scarce and expensive." Of course the marketman's "all" was extravagant, but it would be quite reasonable to assume that many deep-sea fishermen have changed their occupation to one much more profitable and little more risky even if the reports of "Rum Row" did not so state.

LAMENTING "MRS. GRUNDY."

Time was when to mention "Mrs. Grundy" was to call her names, for she was widely regarded as a lady with too keen a scent for scandal and too sharp a tongue, only social position differentiating her from the ordinary gossiping busybody. A mention of her in the pulpit could only have been critical, yet now we have the news that the Rev. Dr. Bell recently preached a sermon in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, in the course of which he lamented that no longer is the celebrated Mrs. Grundy exercising her beneficent task of watching other folk and noting and condemning their departures from what she thinks the paths of virtue and propriety." Dr. Bell contended that "she speaks no more and that now-a-days almost anybody could do almost anything without incurring the adverse criticism of public opinion's famous personification."

This not only makes of Mrs. Grundy a more impeccable and useful lady than many had supposed her to be but stimulates curiosity as to why she has retired from business. Is the magnitude of her task in these times beyond her strength, or is it that questionable going-on have become too common any longer to excite her interest. This may be to some extent true of the great towns, but it is likely Dr. Bell would find that in the smaller places Mrs. Grundy is as actively interested and as vocal as ever, although the acknowledged "changes since the war" may have forced her to become a bit more tolerant and philosophically resigned than she was known to be in former times.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.
(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

THE OLD TIME DOCTOR.

I spoke of the carriage of an individual, the way he walked, as a good index of his feelings, his outlook on life.

I often think of how well our older physicians were able to treat their patients in those early days. There was no laboratory to tell him that the blood showed definitely a certain condition, which made his diagnosis of an ailment just as certain, and his treatment likewise definite.

Neither the sputum, the urine, the tissues themselves could be examined, as can be done now.

And yet he was successful, because he used his eyes and his brain. It was this searching look he gave his patient, that helped him to locate the cause of the trouble and treat it accordingly.

So as he looked at the face of his patient he saw whether it was normal, flushed, just pale, or even gray. The look of the eye was most important. Was it normal, bright, or dull?

The feel of the pulse. Was it normal, weak, or bounding, regular or irregular?

And last but not least, the old fashioned procedure of putting out the tongue. Was it normal or was it red? Were there spots on it? Was it coated?

In likening the body to a motor car, I said that if you were to look at a beautifully finished and upholstered motor car, its power plant might be absolutely useless, in fact not even in it, and you'd never know it, to look at it.

But if your power plant, heart, lungs, digestive apparatus, brain, are not right, that body of yours will show it.

And the physician of former days knew this well, and it helped him to guard his patient until he diagnosed the trouble. And even where he never really found out the underlying cause of the sickness, these four plain outstanding points—face, eye, pulse, and tongue—enabled him to pull his patient through most serious conditions. There is a feeling among thinking physicians at this time, that the laboratory is taking the place of the brain and common sense of some physicians.

It would be ridiculous to belittle the importance of the laboratory. It has been of tremendous help in medicine, by making knowledge of certain diseases definite.

But the thinking physician still uses his eyes and brain.

NEW YORK GROWERS POOL 470,000 POUNDS OF WOOL

Through the agency of the New York State Sheep Growers' Cooperative Association somewhat more than 470,000 pounds of wools have been assembled and graded during the past four months. Those wools were consigned from practically every county in the state where sheep growing is carried on to any extent. The individual shipments ranged from 25 pounds to 4,000 pounds. The county consignments ranged from 2,000 pounds to 40,000 pounds. The amount pooled this year is practically the same as the amount pooled in 1923.

The 1924 pool year officially closed on August 20, that is, it was advertised that the wools consigned up to that time would be included in the early sales. Wools shipped later may or may not be included in early fall sales, according to F. E. Robertson, manager. On August 23 the mills were informed of the association at its warehouse in Syracuse. The condition of the wool market has greatly improved since its usual spring and early summer slump and indications point to a probable early sale of the 1924 wools.

In spite of the continued prosperity in the sheep growing business there is but little indication of any marked increase in the number of sheep, the records of the sheep growers' association show. This is ascribed to three possible causes: the prevailing high price for mutton which may cause some farmers to market their fat ewe lambs; lack of experience in the business; lack of adequate fencing on the farms.

Get-Out-the-Vote Campaign Opens

National Non-Political Organization Backed by Numerous Prominent Organizations and Individuals—Want Everybody to Vote on Election Day.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 2.—Business men in every single state in the nation will open their Get-Out-the-Vote campaign today. Organized into an effective working unit by the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Industrial Council, they will conduct a non-partisan effort from now until Election Day, employing as their slogan:

"Vote November 4: Vote As You Please, but—VOTE!"

Fourteen national organizations of great influence, not of political nature; and sixty-seven state and local industrial organizations embracing members of all political complexions, will begin the work to make the vote of 1924 the greatest in the history of the country. More than 3,000 individuals and organizations of all kinds have been supplied with more than 15,000,000 pieces of material for the opening of the drive.

Every business and industrial community will be engaged and from the enthusiasm with which all organizations have responded to the appeal of John E. Edgerton, President of the Association, manufacturers are already predicting that the vote of 1924 will reach between 35,000,000 and 40,000,000 as against the lagging record of 26,000,000 for the year 1920, when less than half of the eligible voters of the country took enough interest in their national affairs to go to the polls.

Mr. Edgerton sums up the menace of the present situation thus: "Twenty-seven million people stayed away from the polls in 1920. Twenty-six million people—a minority of all the voters—elected a president in 1920."

"You ask if the ballot is any of your business. "Do you know that the period of greatest increase in governmental expenses and taxes—is identical with the period of greatest increase in ballot slackers that we have known in all American history?"

Wide commendation has been expressed of the forcefulness, simplicity and attractiveness of the material that is being sent out in the manufacturers' campaign. The literature is divided into two effective classes: a red, white and blue sticker which reads:

"Vote November 4—Vote As You Please, but—VOTE!"

And a small folder, which proclaims a meeting of the Stockholders of the United States of America—and every single citizen of the country is a stockholder—every eligible voter a preferred stockholder. This folder, in three hundred words, preaches a straightforward sermon, which tells in its very first four lines an impressive story of the indifference of the eligible voters in the administration of their national business affairs.

Advisory Committee Appointed.

The following notable men and women compose the new organization's advisory committee:

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, New York; former Senator George E. Chamberlain, Oregon; Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Massachusetts; Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., New York; Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Washington, D. C.; Senator James E. Watson, Indiana; Senator David I. Walsh, Massachusetts; Mrs. Charles H. Sablin, New York; Mrs. Hugh H. Todd, Washington; Senator Royal Copeland, New York; J. H. Kimble, Maryland; Hanford MacNider, Iowa; George Washington Ochs-Oakes, New York; Simon Michelet, and James E. West, New York.

The idea of getting out a full vote all over the country has been endorsed by resident Coppidge, John W. Davis and Senator LaFollette.

Wild Oats

WHEN Dan took Evelyn in his arms and told her that he loved her she believed him.

In her ignorance of life she had no way of knowing he was not in earnest.

If she had known she was only one of many girls into whose ears he had poured the same sweet sounding words, what a world of shame and degradation she would have been spared.

"His False Standard"—in True Story

Magazine for October is a story of the sowing of wild oats—and the reaping of a crop of agony. If every man and woman could see the broken hearts and ruined hopes, the days and nights of remorse and tears that follow wrong-doing—no young man would trifle with a woman's love and no girl would give her heart to any man until she had made sure that his intentions were honorable.

Don't fail to read this thrilling lesson from life.

Other Absorbing Stories from Life

Here are just a few of the unusual features in the October issue of True Story Magazine

"Her Final Choice"—Nine, an orphan, hungered for love. So when Peter Hodge came into her life, she fell an easy prey to his steaming devotion. She little realized that in throwing herself into his arms, she was inviting tragedy.

"What Every Woman Hopes"—Living in the country, Madge thought no temptation of city life could ever lure her into wrong. But Madge did not know how easy and attractive each little downward step is made, and how fiercely she was to have to battle for her soul.

"The Network of Fate"—When Janet concealed from her husband that his friend, had made improper advances toward her—she believed her silence the only way to save her husband from ruin. How she had to literally claw her way out of hell as a result, is a most heart gripping narrative.

"You Belong to Me"—When Avery Holson bullied her into a loveless marriage, Alice was afraid to withdraw from an alliance that was loathsome to her. Had she been properly taught from her childhood days, what agony of mind and soul she might have escaped!

The Gage of Battle

In this country a mighty conflict is raging. Evil is battling to destroy all that is virtuous and good.

The weapons of Evil are deceit, treachery, cunning. It strikes in the shadows and attacks in the dark. Against such a foe, moralizing avails little. The fight calls for action—determined, fearless. True Story Magazine, as published by Bernard Macfadden represents that kind of action. True Story needs but one weapon—the sword of truth. If it can save others the tragedy of evil; if it can show young people the perils and penalties of wrong—it will have gone far in its battle for Right.

"During these awful days of suspense back as to Evelyn's faith and mine, I passed through hell-fire of suffering . . . and I learned that I loved Evelyn, loved her as a man loves nothing, and woods, and rivers, and all natural, wholesome things."—from "His False Standard" in True Story for October lished by Bernard Macfadden represents that kind of action. True Story needs but one weapon—the sword of truth. If it can save others the tragedy of evil; if it can show young people the perils and penalties of wrong—it will have gone far in its battle for Right.

Hives May Come From Eating

Particular Kinds of Food May Produce the Painful Disease—How to Cure It—What Affords Relief.

Dr. Edward H. Marsh, Secretary of the State Health Department, spoke on "Hives" over the radio from Station WGY several nights ago. This was one of the Health Department's regular weekly health talks broadcast by the General Electric Company at Schenectady.

"Urticaria (hives) comes on suddenly, like a bolt out of a clear sky," said Dr. Marsh, "red-swelling with pale centers called wheals appear on the skin. These may be of almost any size; sometimes one single wheal may cover a large portion of the body. They itch, and the more you scratch the worse they become. As a rule, any one individual wheal lasts only a short time, but meanwhile new ones appear. Insect bites, such as those of the mosquito, flea or bedbug cause the same sort of wheal, but these usually remain small.

"There are many causes of urticaria. In people who are especially sensitive to it the injection of serum or antitoxin may produce this condition. As a general rule, though, something taken into the digestive tract is responsible. There are some individuals who cannot take certain medicines without suffering with hives; others will have an attack whenever some particular food is eaten. Such people are said to have an idiosyncrasy or susceptibility to that specific drug or food. Often it is a relatively simple matter to determine what is causing the trouble. This is especially true when one has had repeated attacks of urticaria, each following the eating of one particular kind of food. Many times it is not so easy, however, for often some simple article of diet, such as eggs, is the cause of the trouble. Furthermore, in such cases any article of food containing the offending substance may give rise to urticaria. Thus if a person is susceptible to white of egg, cake, custard or anything else containing white of egg may cause the disease.

"In a person who has urticaria but who has never had a previous attack, it is often impossible to determine accurately the cause, but if within a few hours the individual has eaten some unusual food it may be assumed that that is responsible.

"The rapid cure of an attack of acute urticaria is usually simple—a quick and complete cleansing of the digestive tract, which may be readily accomplished by taking one or two tablespoonfuls of epsom or Rochelle salts in a tumbler full of hot water. To relieve the itching which is usually severe and invariably accompanies urticaria, the simplest remedy is the application of a strong solution of baking soda, letting it dry on the skin, and not wiping it off. Where the itching is more or less localized as in insect bites, spirits of camphor may be applied.

"The prevention of hives rests in determining the cause, and when this is a food, omitting it from the diet. When it seems impossible to find out just what article of diet underlies the condition, sometimes this can be determined by certain skin tests, about which your family doctor can advise you. If there is any question about the condition from which you are suffering, or if you fail to get prompt relief from simple remedies such as those outlined, consult your doctor immediately."

Through the Glad Eyes of a Woman

By Jane Doe

TO ANY PRETTY GIRL

YOU know, of course, that I envy you immensely. In fact, I'm rather jealous of you. But my jealousy isn't altogether of the green pea-tinted variety.

A good deal of it should be spelled with a "Z"—Zealously—if you will. I feel toward all you little kitteny bits of womanhood with your deliciously fresh and engaging ways, your sublime and unconquerable optimism, much in the same way as your own mother does, or should.

If you belonged to me I should want, oh, so much, to see that those first wonderful eighteen years of your life were filled with the joy and beauty of existence.

I should try to give you all the sunshine during your napperhood, so that you would always have your memories to compensate you when the clouds which are so deadly inevitable come to shadow the brightness in your eyes and put a weight on your heart.

Of course, I should want to spank you—occasionally!

And the very hardest spanking I should administer would be when I discovered you ailing yourself too closely to the powder puff and bunny's foot, and wasting your money on "facial treatments," vibro massages and such-like beauty restorers only intended for the thirties and forties.

I am aware that to be pretty and good to look at is often your overwhelming if secret ambition, and you wouldn't hesitate one second if you were offered the choice of the charms of Helen of Troy and the brain box that would help you to carve a niche for yourself in posterity.

And all of us of the sex, with a few misguided exceptions, would do the same, seeing that we are all very much aware that beauty, when it is beauty and not camouflage, is the easiest and pleasantest known method of achieving fame and fortune yet discovered.

But, if you are lucky enough already to possess the loveliness that makes of your flapper years a triumphal procession, do take care of it as you would some very precious thing and remember that if it is to be lasting it must be backed up by a foundation of good health.

So much for the quest for beauty. I should also want to spank you if I found you were side-tracking your intelligence.

Believe me, there is no more delightful and intriguing combination than the girl who is as interesting as she is pretty.

It is easy enough to remedy dullness. Get the newspaper habit, keep your eyes wide open and take a real and vivid interest in everything and everybody.

Live—don't stagnate. So many of you start out in life electing to be butterflies.

Few pass the grub stage when it comes to the intelligence test.

Just a word about charm.

If you want the world at your feet, pretty girl, go out of your way to be charming. You will astonish yourself when you realize the power of a bright and frequent smile, the sympathetic little air, the scrupulous courtesy, the frank speech and the absence of all "side" and cattiness.

When one thinks of the multitudes of snappy, depressing and uninteresting women one comes daily in contact with one little wonder that men seem to veer with one accord to the duffy, the frivolous and the flirtful.

Stake your claim on fair manners, fair speech and, above all, fair play, as well as fair looks.

And believe me, you won't go far wrong.

My love to you!

MINOR AUTO ACCIDENTS REPORTED TO POLICE

Considering the heavy traffic through Kingston on Labor Day the number of auto accidents reported to the police was few and showed that automobilists as a rule were trying to observe traffic regulations. Oliver Boyd, Jr., of Brooklyn, reported striking the car of Dr. H. L. Van Nostrand of No. 172 Clinton avenue. The damage was not heavy. The cars of John Clark of West Orange and Benjamin Unger of Accord also came together at Hasbrouck and Foxhall avenues, with slight damage. A baby in the Unger car was somewhat bruised.

The cars of Clarence Freer of St. Remy and Leonard F. Whelan of Railroad avenue collided at Hasbrouck and Foxhall avenues with slight damage.

Martin Carr of No. 132 O'Neill street reported hitting a man on Prince street, but that the man got up and walked away before he could ascertain his name.

Tilden Is Still Slight Favorite

Johnston in Championship Match This Afternoon Despite His Gruelling Struggle With Richards on Monday.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 2.—William M. Tilden, II, of Philadelphia and William M. Johnston of San Francisco were to take the grand slam court at the West Side Tennis Club here this afternoon in their struggle for national tennis supremacy. They fought their way into the final round of the forty-fourth annual tournament—Johnston with an easy victory over Harold B. Patterson of Australia, and Tilden by one of the hardest struggles of his career in winning from Vincent Richards, the Olympic champion.

The strenuous efforts of yesterday were expected to have some effect on the tall champion's game this afternoon, but his stamina and marvelous command of strokes still made him a slight favorite. Johnston, for one of the few times in his long career, enters the final round rather fresh. He has had little opposition in his march to the final round.

Richards vs. Tilden.
The crowd of 10,000 tennis enthusiasts who gathered here yesterday afternoon saw "Big Bill" Tilden make a defeat at the hands of the faithful Olympic champion, Richards, only by the narrowest margins. "Big Bill" won by a score of 4-6, 2-6, 4-6, 6-4, after Richards had been within a single point of winning the fateful third set at 7-5. The young challenger won the fourth set, after trailing at 3-4, so that had he won the third he probably would have won the match at three sets to one.

Tilden drew a great round of applause in the ninth game of the third set, when, as Richards fell flat on his back in making a desperate lunge for the ball, and keeping it in play, the tall champion deliberately gave Richards an opportunity to regain his feet and get into position. Instead of putting over the winning shot in this emergency, Tilden tossed up a soft lob directly to the center of the court. By the time the ball struck and rose on the rebound Richards was poised for his own and scored an aching shot with soft overhead across the court. Tilden had lost the point but he had earned the admiration of the thousands in the gallery by his display of sportsmanship.

Although hard-pressed at times the champion showed that he still possesses the ability to rise to great heights in an emergency and it is a fact that makes him a slight favorite over Johnston for the match this afternoon.

In the other semi-final match "Big Bill" Johnston completely outplayed Gerald L. Patterson, of Australia, after what was described by competent critics as a demonstration of flawless tennis. Johnston won 6-2, 6-0, 6-0.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Nyatt, R. I., Sept. 2.—With all the favorites safely in the lists, the first round of match play was contested today in the Women's National Golf championship over the Rhode Island Country Club course here. Miss Menna Collett, winner of the medal with a record card of 79 yesterday, and playing over her home course, was a favorite for the title.

The pairings today provided a contest between Miss Marian Hollins, former national champion, and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, a past winner of British and American titles. Miss Collett drew Miss Ruth Batchelder, of Boston, in the first round. Miss Collett is drawn in the upper bracket along with Mrs. Fred Lettis and Mrs. Lillian Hyde Feitner. Luis Angel Firpo Changed Man

Still a Fighter But No Longer a Cave Man—Wants to Finish His Work Among the White Lights.

(By Ford C. Frick.)
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Luis Angel Firpo is a changed man. The cave-man has suddenly turned Chesterfield, the Neanderthal is courting the graces.

It's too bad!
As a cave-man, Luis Angel Firpo had color and personality and dynamic force. As an advertised racial throwback to some forgotten age of primitive being, he had distinction and pomp and primitive shrewdness.

Unless this writer misses his guess entirely, it will take the combined efforts of Tex Rickard, Frank Flourney and all the Firpoian backers to keep the erstwhile cave-man in camp until time for the Wills fight. He wants Broadway and the white lights, and he has given notice that he intends to clear out and finish his work "Somewhere on Forty-second street." Just now a twenty-four trace prevails, but after that—?

Don't misunderstand us. Luis Firpo is taking the Wills fight seriously. His star of destiny was a bit upset by that Dempsey battle, but his personal pride demands revenge. Wills is a stone in his path of progress and must be removed.

And once in the ring, with the smell of blood in his nostrils and the grind of rosin beneath his feet, he's the same old Firpo.

Unknown Man Died at Hospital

An unknown man was found ill along the railroad tracks on upper Washington avenue Monday and was conveyed to the Kingston City Hospital in the city ambulance. Upon reaching the hospital he died and Coroner W. N. Conner was notified and took charge of the remains, placing them in his morgue while he began an investigation to learn the identity of the man. The man appeared to be a mechanic, about 65 years of age, five feet eight or nine inches in height and weighing about 160 pounds. He had gray hair, a sandy mustache and the only identifying marks about him were the initials "E. C." in his straw hat. The body was tattooed about the arms and legs, and on the left arm was a figure of Christ on the Cross. He was clad in blue trousers, brown coat and working shoes. His hands appeared to be those of a mechanic of some kind. The body is being held at the morgue of Coroner Conner while an effort is being made to locate relatives or friends of the man.

For several years Mr. Black was located on Main street near his new place of business. The quarters now occupied by Mr. Black as sales and show rooms are perhaps the finest quarters for the purpose in the city. The building, formerly occupied by the Women's Exchange, has been entirely remodeled and an addition on Clinton avenue built. The entire frontage was remodeled and new plate glass windows installed, giving show windows on both Clinton avenue and Main street. In the new show rooms is ample space to exhibit the several models of the Hudson and Essex cars. At the extreme north end of the show rooms is located a driveway through which cars may be driven on the floor.

An office for Mr. Black and his sales force is located in the rear of the show rooms so that none of the window space is lost to display purposes.

In addition to the sales rooms and show rooms on Main street, at Clinton avenue, Mr. Black will continue to maintain the service station on Pine street, where he occupied temporary offices for sales during the time the building was being erected on Clinton avenue. All service and repair work will be taken care of at the Pine street service station.

Coolidge Favors New Labor Plan

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 2.—President Coolidge believes that the abolition of the United States railroad labor board, which has been under consideration in and out of congress for the past two years, should be accompanied by the establishment of a definite substitute plan for the adjustment of railway labor disputes. It was declared officially at the White House this afternoon.

The new plan, according to a spokesman for the president, could be worked out by the railroad managements and their employees and then submitted to congress for approval.

Know How to Do It

In northern New England beds have been baked from time immemorial in a hole in the ground, the hole having first been lined with stones and the stones made very hot with a fire built in the hole.

Simple Marriage Rite

Marriage is celebrated in a strange fashion in some parts of India. The woman puts a pot of water in her prospective husband's house, and on his lifting it up the marriage is ratified.

Unable to Rescue Franklin

Between 1847 and 1857, 30 expeditions were sent into the Arctic regions to find Sir John Franklin, who set out for the North pole, May 19, 1845. The last one found relics of Franklin's expedition.

America's Oldest University

The oldest university in the New World is the University of San Marcos of Lima, Peru, which was founded in the year 1551, and is still one of the most famous schools in South America.

Sacredness of Work

All true work is sacred; in all true work, were it but true hand-labor, there is something of divineness. Labor, wide as the earth, has its summit in heaven.—Thomas Carlyle.

Real Failure

I'm proof against that word "failure." I've seen behind it. The only failure a man ought to fear is failure in cleaving to the purpose he sees to be best.—George Eliot.

Winners in Life's Battles

The nerve that never relaxes, the eye that never flinches, the thought that never wanders—these are the masters of victory.—Burke.

Vanity Characteristic

Statues made in Crete some 5,000 years ago show such slender waists that ladies at that time very likely wore some sort of corsets. The lure of the slender waist haunted the ancient women from the Far East to the western shores of Europe. References to corseting are found in the writings of the classic Greeks and Romans.

Combinations of Cards

The accepted formula used to determine in how many ways any number of playing cards may be arranged is as follows: Multiply together all the numbers used in counting the things; thus, the number of ways that ten cards can be arranged is 1x2x3x4x5x6x7x8x9x10 or 3,628,800.

Useless Logic

A rose is a blind, a blind is a shade, a shade is a shadow, a shadow is a ghost, a ghost is a shade, a shade is a color, a color is paint and paint is rouge. Therefore, by Euclid, axiom one, rouge must be a rose. And, curiously enough, it is true.—Tale Record.

Variouly Spelled

Mac is an element, usually a conjoined prefix in many Scotch and Irish names of Celtic origin. The prefix is either written in full, Mac, or abbreviated to Mc or M'. Thus a name may be spelled variously, as MacDonald, McDonald or M'Donald.

Unequally Divided

Not enough room for either professional men or farmers, is the problem in Holland today, where there are 205 persons to each square mile. France has 74 to a square mile, United States 11, Argentina only 3 and Australia, not quite 1 to a square mile.

Reducing Summer Static Nuisance

Simple Methods, Worked Out by Experts, May Be of Aid to Amateurs.

By L. W. HATRY, SIX
Everyone is trying, by the use of various ideas and devices, to eliminate as much as possible static at the smallest cost in signal strength. If the strong signal that is unreadable through heavy static can be worked into a medium signal that is readable through the static left with it, satisfaction will result. So, we leave the static as strong as possible and leave the static as weak as possible by any of the devices that follow.

The ideas given here are not cures for QRM troubles, but merely a panacea for the inconvenience which only clear, cold weather ever eliminates.

Two old methods embody either the use of the crystal or the grid leak (high resistance) and are fairly effective with most receivers, although they will not work with all. The first method consists in shunting the crystal across the aerial and ground binding posts of the receiver (see Fig. 1), and adjusting it for best static reduction point. The crystal should be a carborundum with a heavy, firm contact, so that once adjusted it may be depended upon for a time.

Benefit of Loose-Coupling.

Loose-coupling properly handled is also of great benefit in bettering static-signal ratio, and, if the coupling control on your receiver is unused, an excellent method of eliminating static noises is being neglected.

method that, at least, works. The coil L may be any large inductance that is wound with a couple of hundred or more turns. It should be preferably of heavy wire (No. 18 to 20) and an ordinary type of coil; bank or honeycomb wound coils will not work well. Fig. 3 shows another connection of the coil that brings in more QRM and stronger signals; the weather should determine which is used. In operation ing the receiver on one of the afflicted nights do not work at the edge of oscillation, as is usually the case. Instead, go noticeably deeper into oscillation. This reduces the volume of the C. W. chirp, but it also deadens QRM very effectively.

Better Static Signal Ratio.

A single turn of wire used as the receiver primary with no further coupling or loading devices, instead of the usual tuned circuit, will give a better static-signal ratio. For the best results it is necessary for the receiver secondary and its components to be constructed from the low-loss viewpoint. Also, the antenna should have its fundamental wave outside of the range of the tuner or the wave range

Will Reduce Static While Allowing Strong Signals to Come Through.

A low antenna, not too long, nor of too great capacity, is helpful in avoiding static. A good specification is 20 to 25 feet high and 75 to 100 feet long, or less. It should be of the single-wire type and of low resistance. The simplest way to achieve the low resistance is to make the single wire of several strands of large wire, say No. 14, twisted together and soldered every two feet.—Radio News.

Led in Tunnel Idea

The first man to propound a scheme for building a tunnel under the English channel was a French mining engineer named Mathieu, who impressed Napoleon with the idea at the beginning of the last century.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 2.—Bull in the stock market were either unable or unwilling to continue in the stock market today the impressive demonstration which featured the last two sessions of last week, and under the stimulus of which prices were rushed forward from 2 to 6 points. Belated recognition of the benefits to accrue to Erie stockholders under the Van Sweringen consolidation, of which announcement for the first time today, brought new buying into the market of about one point. Pare Marquette also enjoyed a steady market, at advancing prices but on the whole the railroad list moved within as narrow limits as the industrials.

Bulls in the oil market the prices of representative oil stocks higher at the opening today on the assumption that the long waited turning of the corner had come. The slightly higher prices were generally maintained but oil stocks are still unable to command any following of market traders.

The motor stocks were next taken in hand and active trading in Maxwell, Pierce Arrow, Willys-Overland, Studebaker, Chandler and General Motors was a feature.

Prices worked gradually higher with the best performances by Maxwell and Pierce Arrow.

The copper stocks shared with the oil and motors the buoyancy of the general market in the fourth hour and trading in these stocks was broad enough to include eight or ten of the active issues.

The market was extremely dull and inactive in the fourth hour, and only a small number of the active industrial and specialty stocks passed through the market.

The advance in call money rates to 2 1/2 per cent may have had some influence on the slowing up of the market near the close as call money has ruled at 2 per cent for many months. Outside money markets gave some evidence of further hardening but this was due to the quarterly settlements, funds from which will be in circulation again within a few days.

There was no impressive movements in any of the outside markets. Grain turned weak after its strong start; cotton was featureless; foreign bonds steady and foreign exchange slightly irregular.

Call money rates were advanced to 3 per cent in the last hour. Selling pressure was renewed in some sections of the market and stocks sold off to around the lowest price level of the day.
